

This is an interesting article, submitted from the US shows us many ways to make your own chemical free personal and household products....

The DIY Guide to Natural Bathroom Products

There's no better feeling than jumping in the shower after a long day at work and washing off the stress of the day. The problem is, this pampering experience is likely loading our bodies with toxic chemicals from the commercial bathroom products we use every day.

Many commercial soaps, shampoos, body washes and the like are packed with chemicals that are doing untold damage to our health and wellbeing.

Luckily, there are some chemical-free, natural alternatives that will keep you and your family safe, while still keeping you clean and fresh.

The rest of the article can be found here....

<https://www.homemade-gifts-made-easy.com/diy-guide-to-natural-bathroom-products.html>